NATIONAL DISTANCE LEARNING WEEK
November 10-14, 2014

“TO CELEBRATE AND CREATE GREATER AWARENESS OF DISTANCE LEARNING, AND TO RECOGNIZE LEADERS AND BEST PRACTICES IN THE FIELD.” US Distance Learning Association on the purpose of National Distance Learning Week

The Office of Distance Learning at UL Lafayette will host multiple events during National DL Week (November 10-14) to promote the services available to faculty who teach online.

NATIONAL DISTANCE LEARNING WEEK EVENTS:
NOVEMBER 10-14, 2014

MONDAY: November 10 12:30-1:00 pm	Standards for a Quality Online Course: UL Lafayette is a university subscriber to Quality Matters, a national benchmark for online course design. If you haven't heard of QM, this session is for you! Learn the basics of QM and glimpse the commitment over 200 UL Lafayette faculty have made to quality course designs. Presenters: Alise Hagan and Claire Arabie, Office of Distance Learning Location: Dupre Library, Bib Lab
TUESDAY: November 11 11:00 am - Noon	Course Review Workshop: Each year, the Office of Distance Learning coordinates peer-reviews of electronic courses. The success of these reviews depends on the faculty review teams. If you have served as a reviewer, are interested in reviewing online courses, or have a course being reviewed, this one's for you! Presenters: Alise Hagan and Claire Arabie, Office of Distance Learning Location: Dupre Library, Bib Lab
WEDNESDAY: November 12 11:00 am - Noon	Panopto Basic Webinar: Interested in recording and editing lectures? This webinar will discuss the basics of Panopto, the university's lecture-capture software. Presenters: Panopto Location: Dupre Library, Bib Lab
THURSDAY: November 13 8:30-9:00 am	Library Resources for DL Faculty and Students: Learn about the resources, journals, and services available to DL faculty and students. Presenters: Emily Deal, DL Librarian Location: Dupre Library, Bib Lab
